Texas State University Mission Statement: “Texas State University is a public, student-centered, doctoral-granting institution dedicated to excellence in serving the educational needs of the diverse population of Texas and the world beyond.”

Academic Advising Mission Statement: “Undergraduate Academic Advising at Texas State University is a student-centered, collaborative approach, which promotes the academic success and growth of students, while respecting individuals’ diverse interests, abilities and goals.”

Definition of Academic Advising: “Academic advising is an educational purpose that, by intention and design, facilitates students’ understanding of the meaning and purpose of higher education and fosters their intellectual and personal development toward academic success and lifelong learning.” (NACADA, 2004)

Purpose of Advising for the College of Fine Arts and Communication:
Academic advisors in the College of Fine Arts and Communication are here to assist students with developing and implementing educational planning to support them in attaining their educational goals. During the students’ tenure at Texas State, advisors want to foster the advising relationship to ensure students are aware of the resources and opportunities available to them at the University.

Academic advising requires participation by both the advisor and the student. Active involvement by both parties will ensure students achieve the expected learning outcomes in order to develop a clear educational plan. Advising is used as a means to teach students the components needed to successfully attain their educational goals while at Texas State. Advising should not be viewed as a one-time encounter, but as an ongoing process that helps the student develop both academically and personally throughout their academic career. Throughout this process, both the student and the advisor will have specific responsibilities.
Student Responsibilities:
As a student you have clear responsibilities in the advising process

- Know the requirements of your degree program
- Know University policies, procedures and deadlines
- Follow the student code of conduct: Students shall conduct themselves in a manner consistent with the university’s mission as an educational institution.
- Participate proactively in the decision-making process
- Schedule timely, regular appointments with an advisor during each semester
- Keep a personal record of your academic progress in your advising notebook
- Ask questions—be an information seeker
- Clarify personal goals and values
- Accept responsibility for academic decisions and performance

Advisor Responsibilities:
You can expect an advisor to

- Assist students in understanding the purpose and goals higher education and its effects on their lives and personal goals
- Encourage and guide students to define and develop realistic educational goals
- Listen carefully to students’ questions and concerns
- Communicate the University curriculum, requirements, and procedures
- Provide students with information and strategies for using available resources and services on campus
- Provide a professional and confidential environment
- Accurately document students’ progress toward meeting their goals

Delivery of Academic Advising
You have chosen a major in the College of Fine Arts and Communication. We have advisors located in a centralized Advising Center and advisors who are stationed in the Department/School offices of our majors. This allows our students multiple avenues to obtain information regarding their academic plans.

Our advising system is set up to allow students to have multiple ways to build relationships with advisors.

- We have standard individual advising sessions which are best suited for short-term academic planning.
- We have small group advising sessions during peak times that allow for just-in-time information to be provided.
- We also have larger group sessions that are designed to provide general information regarding University and degree-specific policies and requirements.
- We also provide sessions where long-term degree goals can be discussed.

“No Show” Advising Policy
Students will be considered a “no-show” if they arrive to an appointment more than ten minutes late, or if they do not cancel by phone or in person at least one hour prior to the scheduled start time of the appointment.

Students are allowed three (3) no-shows for an academic year. Students who exceed the maximum number of no-shows will lose their ability to schedule an advising appointment and will be required to attend a walk-in day in order to access our services.

The goal of walk-in advising is to confirm planned schedules for the next term and the meeting will be limited to 15 minutes. Long term planning is best suited for a standard advising appointment.

Open walk-in days are held monthly on the third Monday of the month from 9:00-3:00.
