The San Antonio Zoo is seeking interns in Evaluation for the spring and summer semesters. This opportunity is ideal for students interested in educational evaluation, marketing and market research, program evaluation, sociology, anthropology, social science research, informal education, or related fields. Interns will gain hands on experience in evaluation and research by supporting several current evaluation projects, assisting staff with data collection, data management, data analysis, literature searches/reviews, and reporting. Interns will have the opportunity to work on a variety of different projects, depending both on the needs of the Education Department and on the intern’s interest; project examples include evaluations of exhibit graphics, exhibit use, guest encounter experiences, educational programming, and cognitive, affective, and/or behavior change in zoo guests. For more information or to apply, please visit our website at http://sazoo.org/support/volunteer/college_internships/.