K. McCurdy of the Department of Health and Human Performance proposed a PFW course to add to the Social and Behavioral Sciences component. He reported that the course was similar to courses offered in the core curriculum at Penn State and Hope College with topics ranging from aspects of personal wellness and the world to alternative health care systems. Copies of the syllabus and text were circulated.

Members of the Council made some initial observations including the desirability of using a more current text in the proposed course. Further discussion was deferred until a sub-committee could review the proposal in detail and report to the Council. B. Erhardt is chairing the committee and other members are BJ Friedman and J. Moczygemba.

R. Brown announced that Texas State submitted a revised version of its core curriculum to the Coordinating Board. He mentioned that the Council would re-visit assessment strategies in the spring when initial testing of them begins.

A final meeting for the fall semester was set for 11/25/13. R. Brown expressed appreciation for the Council’s good work.

Meeting adjourned at 4:30 p.m.
