

Department of Communication Disorders (CDIS)
Texas State University

LEVELING COURSES

Fall Semester

CDIS 5312—Neuroanatomy for Communication Disorders
CDIS 5325—Anatomy and Physiology of the Speech Production System
CDIS 5420—Diagnostic Audiology (Lab)
CDIS 5459—Phonetics (Lab)
CDIS 5462—Speech Sound Disorders (Lab)

Spring Semester

CDIS 5330—Speech and Language Development
CDIS 5370—Aural Rehabilitation
CDIS 5469—Hearing Science (Lab)
CDIS 5475—Speech Science (Lab)
CDIS 5466—Language Disorders (Lab)

ASHA REQUIRED CLASSES

The American Speech-Language-Hearing Association (ASHA) requires transcript credit in the following areas outside of communication disorders for certification as a speech-language pathologist.

- Physical Science 3 hours in Chemistry or Intro to Physics
- Social/Behavioral Science 3 hours in Psychology, Sociology, Anthropology, Public Health
- Statistics 3 hours (not Business Statistics)
- Biology 3 hours in an animal-based course; For example, Human Anatomy and Physiology, Zoology, Neurophysiology, Human Genetics, Veterinary Science

DEPARTMENT REQUIRED CLASS

- Development across the Lifespan
OR Human Growth and Development 3 hours

*These requirements should be reviewed with the CDIS Advisor before the graduate sequence is initiated.

Bilingual Concentration

If you are interested in the Graduate Bilingual Concentration, a Bilingual Speech Sound Disorders course is required.

APPLICATION PROCESS

Follow the directions on-line at <https://www.health.txstate.edu/cdis/prospective-students/Degree-Programs/Leveling-Program.html> . The deadline for the application packet is April 1st.