LISTEN TO YOUR BODY & TALK TO YOUR FITNESS INSTRUCTOR!

Kate Bero, DPT Student and WellCats Instructor

Group fitness classes are a great way to exercise in a social environment. The tips below will ensure you have a safe and enjoyable experience.

LISTEN TO YOUR BODY.

Our bodies are good at communicating with us, we just need to listen. Remember to start low and go slow. It’s important to warm up and cool down, as well as workout at an appropriate level.

In group classes, it’s easy to stop listening to your body and start listening to the music. In these classes, it is also easy to become competitive. Use this friendly competition to motivate you, but don’t overdo it. Pain is never a good thing.

Be aware of the difference between muscle fatigue and pain. Sharp sensations typically indicate pain, while an aching/burning sensation during repeated use of a muscle is usually ok. Muscles can be sore for one to two days after a workout. Soreness lasting longer than two days indicates you pushed yourself too far. An advantage of attending a group fitness class offered through WellCats is that you have a knowledgeable instructor right there in front of you. If you aren’t sure, ASK.

TALK TO YOUR FITNESS INSTRUCTOR.

In general, group fitness instructors place a lot of trust in their participants. Instructors rely on you to tell them when something hurts and disclose injuries or health conditions that may impact your participation in class. WellCats instructors are available before and after class to discuss health concerns. They are trained to offer modifications to make classes accessible to a variety of levels. If an exercise doesn’t feel right, ask for a modification. After you receive a modification, adhere to it, and when you feel you’re ready to progress, talk to your instructor for guidance.

WellCats is committed to offering a safe exercise environment. Please listen to your body and talk to your group fitness instructor if you have any questions or concerns. If you would like to discuss your physical conditions further, the please contact Carolyn Swearingen at carolynswearingen@txstate.edu or 245.1972. For more information about group fitness classes, go to: www.hr.txstate.edu/worklife/wellcats.html

The Texas State Quarterly Team Award was presented to the 2017 Student Health and Wellness Fair Team. The committee members include: Dr. Ronnie Lozano, Karen Hollensbe, Yvonne Carroll, Julie Eckert, Denise Wagner, Jenevieve Struk, Kristy Caldwell, Tina Jackson, Cheryl Harper, Sharon Wilsford, Emma Carberry, Joyce Wilkerson, Margie Rodriguez, Kelly Dunn, and Janet Johnson.

This was a health and wellness fair for the Texas State students that involved collaborations of staff and faculty from across the campus working together to reserve a place to have the event, to get the word out to the students, to plan the logistics of the day and the layout of vendors. Staff and faculty that worked on getting vendors to participate, groups to do demonstrations, organizing the donations for the event, parking for the vendors, the big pink bus, registration, student volunteers and decorations to bring in the students.

The team provided a health fair for students which has not happened since 2009. The event engaged the student with information and services related to a variety of health topics. The students had a chance to talk to and ask questions to specialists and fitness experts. There were a number of screening vendors such as vision, hearing, fitness, blood glucose level, and mammogram. We had Zumba and Yoga classes. The students received samples of sunscreen, fresh fruits, bottled water and other fun handouts. Door prizes donated by vendors and some grand prizes that were donated by individuals. There were 331 students that participated in 2017 Student Health and Wellness fair. The event showed the students that there are numerous departments on campus that have outreach programs just for them.

There were 35 vendors that all were health and wellness related. Some of these were The University Police Department, Diaz Martial Arts, Texas Oncology, Central Texas Medical Center, Hays Caldwell Women’s Center, CVS Pharmacy, MY Emergency Room 24/7, Blue Cross/Blue Shield, Sam’s Optical, The Communication Disorders Department, The Physical Therapy Department, TXST-Speech & Hearing, Central Texas Eye Center, Student Health Center, Diamondback Bicycles, Hays County Local Health Department, CTMC Breast Health and Women’s Services, Browning Family Chiropractic, Healthy Cats Peer Educators and Colleges Against Cancer/American Cancer Society.

This team of faculty and staff members came together to let the students know that the University does care about their well-being and health issues. All of the members of this team have very demanding jobs and came together because they knew that it was important for Texas State students to have the opportunity to get information and screenings for their health.

Congratulations to the 2017 Student Health and Wellness Fair Team on its achievements and outstanding efforts!
