Texas State University
Part-Time Faculty Excellence in Teaching Award
Nomination Form

Name ___________ Susan Hanson ___________ Net ID ___________ sh17
Department ______ English/Honors ______ College _______ Liberal Arts/Honors ______
Current TXST teaching appointment FTE% ______ 75% ______
Number of long semesters of TXST teaching at 50% or more FTE ______ 67 ______

Statement of Teaching Philosophy (300 words maximum):

Nothing reflects my philosophy of teaching better than these words by educator Parker Palmer: “We teach who we are.” Unless I know and trust myself, unless I am honest about my own gifts and limits, I will fail.

Given that the word educate means “to draw out,” I have long believed that part of my task as a teacher is to help students know themselves—their abilities and passions, as well as their weaknesses and blind spots. As much as I have wished otherwise, I have found no one technique or method for accomplishing this. For me, then, teaching demands a paradoxical stance, an openness and fluidity that leave me both vulnerable and alive.

At the beginning of every semester in my nature writing class, I present the “I-Thou”/”I-It” dichotomy of philosopher Martin Buber. While we initially look at this paradigm as it reflects our interaction with the nonhuman world, we soon see that it also has much to say about our relationships with each other, and to the material that we teach and learn. In short, if I view my students as objects to whom I impart another object—information—I will fail.

In contrast, real teaching is a conversation among subjects—not just the professor and the students, but also the material being taught. As one who teaches writing—nature writing, professional writing, environmental writing, basic writing—I am also being taught by my students, as well as by the subject itself. I am not so much the “expert” in the class as I am the guide. As Parker Palmer puts it, “I teach more than a body of knowledge or a set of skills. I teach a mode of relationship between the knower and the known, a way of being in the world.”
I. ACADEMIC/PROFESSIONAL BACKGROUND

Educational Background

M.A. 1975, Texas State University, English (creative writing emphasis), A Collection of Original Poetry with a Critical Introduction
B.A. (Summa cum laude), 1973, Texas State University, English

University Experience

Senior Lecturer in English, Texas State University, 1985-present; Fall 1984, Fall 1983
Instructor in English, Texas State University, 1975-1978, Spring 1979
Teaching Assistant in English, Texas State University, 1973-1974

Relevant Professional Experience

Lay Campus Chaplain (part-time) at Texas State, Episcopal Diocese of West Texas, 1994-2007

II. TEACHING

Courses Taught

First-Year Composition (Parts I and II)
Developmental Composition
Advanced Reading and Writing
Environmental Writing
Professional Writing
Nature and the Quest for Meaning (Honors course)
University Seminar
Courses Prepared and Curriculum Development

Nature and the Quest for Meaning (Honors course)
“Writing the Desert” (English 3311—Desert Literature, taught in Big Bend)
Environmental Writing (English 3311)

Honors Theses

Supervising Professor

Masters Theses

Committee Member
Amanda Drown, “Islandscapes and Savages: Ecocriticism and Herman Melville’s Typee” (2009)

Other Teaching

• Guest lecturer Southwestern Studies I, Fall 2012
• Mentor in nature writing for Story Circle Network (one student), 2010
• Workshop leader, Texas Nature Writing Conference, University of North Texas Denton, TX, 2008
• Leader, Workshop on the Personal Essay, in “A Year of Writers” series. Westlake Barnes & Noble, Austin, TX, February 2006
• Leader, “Earth Works,” a weeklong nature-writing workshop. Gemini Ink, San Antonio, TX, July 2005
• Co-Leader, Nature-writing workshop. National Story Circle Conference, Austin, TX, February 2004
• Facilitator, “The Courage to Teach: A Discussion,” held for public school teachers in conjunction with author Parker Palmer’s lecture series at Texas State, April 2003
• Co-Leader, New Chaplains' Orientation, National Episcopal Chaplains Conference, University of Denver, Denver, CO, June 2000
• Leader, Nature-writing workshop. Gemini Ink. San Antonio, TX, November 1997
• Co-Leader, “Writing Your Spiritual Geography,” The Church of Reconciliation-Episcopal, San Antonio, TX, January-March 1997

Conference Organization

• Organized "Save the Night," a day-long program based on writer Paul Bogard's book The End of Night: Searching for Darkness in an Age of Artificial Light, Fall 2013. Funding from Common Experience Mini-Grant, the Department of English, the Honors College, and the Hill Country Alliance. Event included
  • class visit
  • meeting with Prof. Dan Price regarding departmental internships
  • conversation hour in the Honors Forum
  • public program in the Witliff Collections (attended by 92 students, faculty/staff, local residents, and others)
  • book signing

• Arranged for a campus visit by Georgia writer Janisse Ray, author of Ecology of a Cracker Childhood, a book I use in my Honors class, Spring 2011. Funded by the Common Experience and the Honors Program. Event included
  • reading and discussion in the Honors Forum
  • reading at the San Marcos Public Library
  • tour of Aquarena Center/glass-bottom boat ride with community leaders, faculty, and students
  • hike in Spring Lake Preserve with San Marcos Greenbelt Alliance president and Biology faculty member
  • attendance at Juilliard Joins Texas State, which included a reading from her work
Organized and led "Practicing the Presence," Fall 2008, a conference for approximately 60 students and chaplains from Province VII of the Episcopal Church. Presenters were the Rev. Dr. Michael Battle, Provost andCanon Theologian, Cathedral Center of St. Paul, Episcopal Diocese of Los Angeles; and Patricia Hendricks, author of Hungry Souls, Holy Companions: Mentoring a New Generation of Christians.

Professional Development *

• “Saving Time by Grading with Rubrics,” 2014
• “Using Online Discussions Effectively,” 2014
• Adobe Days-Sneak Peak of the New CS6, 2012
• Teaching with Sakai Webinar Series, 2012
• “Lessons Learned in Virtual Worlds,” 2011
• Webinar training for using WritingClass, a Bedford/St. Martin’s online grammar program I incorporated into my Professional Writing curriculum, 2010
• Online Collaboration: Supporting Student Teamwork, 2010
• Virtual Worlds: Using ”Second Life” as a Teaching Tool, 2010
• TRACS: Using Gradebook 2, 2010
• “Sustainability” Symposium, 2009
• Lone Star Editors Forum, University of Texas, San Antonio, TX, 2009

* At Texas State, unless otherwise noted

III. AWARDS AND HONORS

Willa Literary Award for Creative Nonfiction, 2008, Women Writing the West, for What Wildness Is This: Women Write About the Southwest
Sam Portaro Award for Creative Expression & Intellectual Enquiry, National Episcopal Chaplains Organization, June 2007
Runner-up, ForeWord Magazine’s Book of the Year Award (category: nature), 2005
Nomination: 2004 Whiting Writer’s Award (The recipients are nominated and chosen by a committee of writers, literary scholars, and editors. There is no application process.)
Runner-up, Presidential Award for Excellence in Scholarship and Creative Activity, Texas State, 2004-05
Award for Excellence in Scholarship and Creative Activity, School of Liberal Arts, Texas State, 2004-05
More than 30 awards for journalism, including the Texas Associated Press Sweepstakes Award

IV. SCHOLARLY/CREATIVE

Books

What Wildness Is This: Women Write About the Southwest, co-editor/author (Austin: University of Texas Press, 2007).

Chapters and Essays in Books

Articles and Essays

“Signposts.” ExploreFaith.org (daily online meditations for December 2007).
“Signposts.” ExploreFaith.org (daily online meditations for August, September, October, and December 2004).
“For Love of the Earth.” r•t•w: the magazine for reading •thinking• and writing (March 2002).
“Let’s Talk About Interviewing.” r•t•w: the magazine for reading •thinking• and writing (November 2001), 3.
“Wild in the City.” Texas Parks & Wildlife (October 2000).
“Seeds of Spring.” Sombrilla (Spring 2000).
“Observing Through the Seasons,” r•t•w: the magazine for reading •thinking• and writing, (November 1999).
“Writing in Place: Teaching Attention to the World,” Writing Teacher magazine (March 1998).
Reviews

“Review of Solitary Goose by Sydney Landon Plum. The Literary Bird Journal 1.1 (Fall 2008), 130

Papers, Presentations, and Readings – A Partial List

“The Vicissitudes of Good Water (with slides),” paper presented at the Sowell Collection Conference, Texas Tech University, April 2014
“A Desert, and Then Perhaps a River,” paper presented at the conference of the Association for the Study of Literature and Environment, University of Victoria, Victoria, British Columbia, June 2009.

Other

Manuscript reviewer for textbook publishers including Houghton Mifflin and Longman, 2001-present
Judge, Polly Bonds Awards, a program of the national organization Episcopal Communicators, 2001-2002
Editorial Board, ISLE (Interdisciplinary Studies in Literature and Environment) 1999-2008
Member, Editorial Board, r•t•w: the magazine for reading • thinking• and writing, 1998-2003.

V. SERVICE

University

Faculty Advisor, Christ Chapel (Episcopal-Lutheran Campus Ministry), 2008-present
Copy editor, University’s Quality Enhancement Plan
Reviewer, Honors Thesis Proposals (3)
Reviewer, Honors Course Proposals (2)
Guest speaker, Alpha Lambda Delta (Freshman Honor Society) initiation, April 2009
Guest speaker, Southwestern Studies (multiple times); graduate class in Social Work Policy (multiple times)
Member, University Allies, Fall 2008-present
Organizer, ONE chapter, Fall 2008
Introductions of guest lecturers at Texas State: the Rt. Rev. John Shelby Spong, author (1996); Gary Snyder, poet (1997); Parker Palmer, author and educator (2003); Kathleen Dean Moore, author and philosophy professor (2007)
Organizer, “Faith Fair,” January 2006
Founding Faculty Advisor, Red Cross Club, 2004-2005
Secretary, Interfaith Campus Chaplains Association, 1999-2007
Member, Price Lecture Committee, 1995-2003
Invocation, Campus-wide 9/11 Memorial Service, September 11, 2002
Presentation on J. Edwin Smith, Herstory, Fall 1998
Presentation on American Women Nature Writers, Faculty Lunch Bunch, Fall 1997
Editor, Mosaic (Liberal Arts Newsletter), 1996-1997
Faculty Advisor, Baha’i Student Organization, circa 1990

Departmental

Member, First-Year English Textbook Committee, -present
Member, Gates Thomas Committee -present
Chair, First-Year English Reader Selection Committee, 2007
Banquet Speaker, Sigma Tau Delta, April 2002
“Nature Writing as a Genre,” Presentation for Sigma Tau Delta, September 1999
Publications Committee, Editor of Folio (Liberal Arts newsletter), 1997-2000

Community – Partial List

Volunteer Webmaster, Christ Chapel (Lutheran-Episcopal Campus Ministry, Texas State University), 1999 - present
Habitat Restoration Team, Bastrop State Park, March 2011
Member, Provincial Council, Province VII of the Episcopal Church, 2008-present
Communications Officer, Province VII of the Episcopal Church, 2008-present
Disaster Relief Volunteer, Lutheran Disaster Response, New Orleans, LA, March 7-13, 2008
Member, Communications Committee, St. Mark’s Episcopal Church, San Marcos, TX, 2008-2011
Disaster Relief Volunteer, Episcopal Diocese of Louisiana, New Orleans, LA, March 10-17, 2007
Honors 2391V: Nature and the Quest for Meaning
Spring 2014

Ms. Susan Hanson
LAMP 501
Office: Flowers Hall 249
Office Hours: 12:30-1:30 TTH and by appointment
Telephone: 245-7697 (office), 245-2163 (Dept. of English), 353-0440 (home),
393-4827 (cell)
(Leave messages at school only between 8 – 12:30 Tues.--Thurs.)
sh17@txstate.edu or skhanson@gmail.com
http://www.susankhanson.com

Course Goals:

While human history abounds with examples of men and women struggling against nature, it also reminds us that for many, nature has been a guide, a teacher, a friend.
Indeed, for such contemporary writers as Gary Nabhan, Stephen Trimble, and Janisse Ray, the natural world offers insight not only into the meaning of individual lives, but also into the experiences human beings share in confronting such phenomena as “otherness” and loss.

In examining the work of some of today's leading nature writers, students will consider the following questions, among others: What is the relationship between our perception of nature and the way we interact with it? In what sense is the human experience of the natural world a lesson in the nature of paradox? What does it mean to confront the “other” in nature? How does the observation of nature assist us in understanding our journeys as individuals? In what sense is the experience of nature an experience of transformation?

Studying a selection of nonfiction texts, students will look at the relationship between perceptions of nature and such variables as gender, form, and style.
Starting with Parker Palmer’s assumption that “[t]he way we interact with the world in knowing it becomes the way we interact with the world as we live in it,” the class will look for links between conceptions of nature (e.g., as a commodity, as a subject for research, as a resource in need of protection, as a source of revelation) and responses to nature in daily life.

Students will write one short paper, responding to a published article, an annotated bibliography, and two longer papers, a documented paper and a personal essay based on the journal they will be keeping throughout the semester. They also will be asked to lead class discussion, to participate in several service projects and/or enrichment activities, and to make a presentation with a partner.

Please read if you are taking this course to satisfy your English requirement:

The Department of English has adopted student learning outcomes for general education courses in writing and literature and for degree programs in English. These outcomes are available for your review at http://www.english.txstate.edu. Pull down the Student Resources menu and go to “Learning Outcomes.”

Required Texts:

The Eye of the Mammoth: Selected Essays, Stephen Harrigan
The Geography of Childhood, Gary Nabhan and Stephen Trimble
Ecology of a Cracker Childhood, Janisse Ray
Ecopsychology: Restoring the Earth, Healing the Mind, Theodore Roszak, et al

Class Format:

Primarily discussion, minimal lecture, guest speakers, class presentations, videos, and field trips

Grades:

Your grade in the course will be based on the following:

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Assignment</th>
<th>Percentage</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>Short Essay</td>
<td>10%</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Documented Paper</td>
<td>20%</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Creative Nonfiction Paper (final)</td>
<td>15%</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Project (with partner)</td>
<td>20%</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Daily Work (performance as discussion leader, class participation/attendance, journal, other in-class work)</td>
<td>25%</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Annotated Bibliography</td>
<td>5%</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Service Projects and/or Enrichment Activities</td>
<td>5%</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Your work will be graded for its overall effectiveness—that is, grammar, spelling, and general readability will matter.

Attendance:

Your attendance will not be directly reflected in your grade; however, when you are absent you will miss work that will go into the computation of your daily grade. Consequently, you will be penalized indirectly.
Late work:

I will deal with this on a case-by-case basis. See me as soon as possible if you miss an assignment.

Manuscript form:

All papers—with the exception of your journal—must be typed. See any standard handbook for other specifics.

Plagiarism:

The Texas State University Honor Code states, "We do our own work and are honest with one another in all matters. We understand how various acts of dishonesty, like plagiarizing ... conflict as much with academic achievement as with the values of honesty and integrity."

Plagiarizing is submitting work that is in any way not your own. Any case of verifiable plagiarism, whether deliberate or accidental, will result in a failing grade on the assignment.

Students with Special Needs:

Students who require accommodations for successful completion of this course must notify both the TSU Office of Disability Services and the instructor by no later than the end of the first week of classes so that accommodations can be made.

The Writing Center:

If you have serious problems with your writing, I may recommend or require individual counseling in the English Department Writing Center (ASB-1st floor). You may also seek help from the Center on your own.

Course Requirements:

1. Journal: Keep a writing notebook, with a minimum of three entries per week. At the end of the semester, you should have at least 40 entries. Your grade will be based on the number you have completed. For example, 30 entries would earn a 75; 35 would earn an 88; 40 would earn 100. This number will be figured into your daily grade. Entries may be just a paragraph or a list, but the subject should be the natural world or interactions with that world.

2. Short Essay: Your first assignment will be to find an essay or article on an environmental issue and write a three-page reflection on it. What is the author observing or arguing? Do you agree? Disagree? Why? Is it an effective argument? Why or why not? What questions, if any, does the article raise for you? What is your response? In short, the nature of your reflection will be dictated by the type of article you select. If it’s an argument, then you’ll look at how the author makes his or her point, as well as the effectiveness of that strategy. Remember, an argument can be well-constructed and still leave you unconvinced. If the article you choose is expository—that is, if its purpose is simply to convey information—then you’ll summarize that information and reflect on where it leads you. Does it raise questions for you to ponder? Does it make you change your mind about something? Does it reinforce something you already believed?

You will be expected to quote from the essay you read, but the method for citing the source will be informal; that is, this will not be a documented paper in the formal sense. Note: Try to find an article on a subject you might consider for your research paper.

3. Leading Class Discussion: You will be responsible for co-leading (with one other student) a discussion on one of the readings. On that day, you and your partner should come to class with a list of questions and comments you can use to elicit response from your classmates. When preparing your questions and comments, please consider the following:

- What attitudes toward the natural world does this text reflect?
- What cultural values and assumptions does it challenge?
- What contribution does it make to the field of nature writing?
- How does it compare to the other texts you’ve read in this class?
- What impact has it had on you? What questions has it raised?

You will turn your questions in on a single sheet (combining your questions) at the end of class.

Tips for leading the discussion:
- Avoid overly broad questions such as “What do you think of that?”
- Avoid questions that can be answered simply with “yes” or “no.”
- You may ask questions about details that are peripheral to the author’s main topic, but don’t spend all your time on these.
- When discussion lags—and it will—try asking a question of a specific person.

4. Forum Responses: Once a week, you will be expected to respond to a question I will pose on Forum in TRACS. Each response will be evaluated using just two criteria: (1) Does it reflect an understanding of the reading from which it’s drawn? And (2) Is it thorough?
5. Class Responses: Each time we have a student-led discussion, you will write a very brief critique of the leaders’ performance. These critiques, which will be part of your daily grade, should not exceed one page. They will be due at the end of class. These are some issues you might address in your critique: Did the leaders show a thorough understanding of the text? Did they ask engaging questions? Did they elicit responses from more than one or two students? Did they cover the most important points in the reading, or did they focus on incidental details? Were they able to keep the discussion on track? Did they work well together? These are just suggested questions, some of which can be answered in a sentence or two. Don’t nit-pick in writing your response, but do hold your classmates to a high standard. Note: Be sure to comment on the two students as individuals as well as partners. Also be sure to include their names.

6. Presentation: With a partner, make a presentation on a topic approved by your instructor. The form your project takes is up to you: e.g., a video or slide presentation, a debate, a demonstration, a visitor’s guide, a web site, etc. Upon the project’s completion, submit a one-page abstract describing your work. Note: Each partner will submit his or her own paper. Your presentation, including a question-answer period, should take no more than 20 minutes. Your elicitation of class response (that is, questions and comments) will be considered as part of your grade. In giving your presentation, try to make the issue relevant to the lives of your classmates, and if possible, suggest ways that they can become involved.

7. Longer Essays: Write two papers whose combined length is at least 20 pages. The first of these papers will be scholarly, using the MLA form of documentation and taking a persuasive approach. The second will be a work of creative nonfiction.

For the first, you will be given a list of topics from which to choose. You also will be allowed to select a topic on your own, provided I approve it. You may approach your topic from the perspective of any academic discipline—literature, environmental history, natural history, political science, economics, ecology, biology, nutrition, psychology, education, and so on.

While the work of creative nonfiction should be drawn from your own experience, it may be expository in part. That is, it may include information drawn from your reading of natural history, environmental history, etc.

8. Annotated Bibliography: As preliminary work for your research paper, you will create an annotated bibliography in which you explore potential sources. An annotated bibliography includes a summary and evaluation of each of the sources.

9. Service/Enrichment Experience: During the semester, you will be expected to participate in seven service and/or enrichment activities. These are some of your options. Others will be added as they become available or as we learn about them. (You may also suggest/create activities for the class.)
Scheduled activities:
Jan. 10—11 Retreat at Wessendorff
Jan. 30 – Aquarena Springs
Feb. 15—Bamberger Ranch field trip, 9 a.m.-12:30 p.m. (There will be a charge of $15.)
March 1—San Marcos River Cleanup
March 29—Bobcat Build (Prospect Park)
April 4-6—Camping Trip, site TBA
TBA—Class Visit to Campus Planetarium

Activities you can do on your own:
• Congress Avenue Bat Emergence, Austin
• Find a bat emergence site in San Marcos
• Organize a river or local park cleanup
• Bald eagle viewing http://www.lakesandhills.com/eagles.htm

Misc.
• Prior to the writing of your scholarly paper, I will be holding at least one in-class session on research and documentation.
• If you have questions regarding style, documentation, or manuscript form, please consult any standard handbook. Note that OWL Purdue has an excellent online site.
• American Nature Writers (John Elder, ed.) is a two-volume work located in the reference section of the library. It is an excellent resource.
• Please see the ASLE (Association for the Study of Literature and Environment) Web site for links to pages on some of the writers you will be studying: http://www.asle.org

Other online resources of interest:
• Wild Thoughts: An Online Journal of Environmental Writing http://www.wildthoughts.org/
• Orion magazine, http://www.orionmagazine.org
• “The Psychological Benefits of Wilderness,” Garrett Duncan http://ecopsychology.athabascau.ca/Final/duncan.htm
• “A Literature of Place,” Barry Lopez http://arts.envirolink.org/literary_arts/BarryLopez_LitofPlace.html
• “Beauty,” Scott Russell Sanders http://arts.envirolink.org/literary_arts/ScottRSanders.html
• “Paying Attention: An Interview with Barry Lopez,” Kenneth Margolis http://arts.envirolink.org/interviews_and_conversations/BarryLopez.html
“Once in his life, a man ought to concentrate his mind upon the remembered earth. He ought to give himself up to a particular landscape in his experience; to look at it from as many angles as he can, to wonder upon it, to dwell upon it. He ought to imagine that he touches it with his hands at every season and listens to the sounds that are made upon it.

“He ought to imagine the creatures there and all the faintest motions of the wind. He ought to recollect the glare of the moon and the colors of the dawn and the dusk.”

N. Scott Momaday, The Way to Rainy Mountain

***

“To pay attention, this is our endless and proper work.”

Mary Oliver, White Pines

***

“The way we interact with the world in knowing it becomes the way we interact with the world as we live in it.”

Parker Palmer, To Know as We Are Known

***

“This is a highly sensual business you are setting about. So think small, move slowly, look sharply, be patient--and prepare for extraordinary pleasures.”

Robert Michael Pyle, Handbook for Butterfly Watching

***
WEEK 1
January

1/14  Discuss syllabus and course requirements. Why do we need nature? What is nature? What do we know about the nature of the place where we live? Schedule camping trip.

1/16  Sign up to lead class discussion. Select team leaders for Bobcat Build. Announce due dates for writing assignments. Discuss Prologue to A Natural History of Nature Writing. What is nature writing? What forms does it take? Also discuss “Very Like a Whale.” (See Resources in TRACS)

WEEK 2

1/21  Video (Robert Louv, Last Child in the Woods)

1/23  Geography of Childhood

WEEK 3

1/28  Geography of Childhood

1/30  Aquarena Springs (main dock at 11:15)

WEEK 4
February

2/4  Sign up for Bobcat Build (We’ll need a team leader to do this.) Geography of Childhood

2/6  Field trip to Prospect Greenbelt with Todd Derkacz, Board President, San Marcos Greenbelt Alliance

WEEK 5

2/11  Ecology of a Cracker Childhood

2/13  Ecology of a Cracker Childhood; short writing assignment due

WEEK 6

2/18  Ecology of a Cracker Childhood
2/20  Discussion of Assignment #2 (research paper); visit from librarian

WEEK 7

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Date</th>
<th>Event</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>2/25</td>
<td>Author Stephen Harrigan visits Eye of the Mammoth</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>2/27</td>
<td>Eye of the Mammoth</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

WEEK 8

March

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Date</th>
<th>Event</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>3/4</td>
<td>Eye of the Mammoth; annotated bibliography due</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>3/6</td>
<td>Writing Workshop</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

WEEK 9

Spring Break

WEEK 10

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Date</th>
<th>Event</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>3/18</td>
<td>Eye of the Mammoth</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>3/20</td>
<td>Ecopsychology</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

WEEK 11

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Date</th>
<th>Event</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>3/25</td>
<td>Ecopsychology, research paper due</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>3/27</td>
<td>Ecopsychology</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

WEEK 12

April

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Date</th>
<th>Event</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>4/1</td>
<td>Ecopsychology</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>4/3</td>
<td>Lunch at the river</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

WEEK 13

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Date</th>
<th>Event</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>4/8</td>
<td>Work on presentations</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>4/10</td>
<td>Bat Conservation International Visits</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>
WEEK 14

4/15  Presentations
4/17  Presentations

WEEK 15

4/22  Presentations
4/24  Presentations

Final Exam

Thursday, May 1  11 a.m. – 1:30 p.m. (Lunch at professor's house)
Representative Instructional Material

Service/Enrichment Experience

During the semester, you will be expected to participate in seven service and/or enrichment activities. These are some of your options. Others will be added as they become available or as we learn about them. (You may also suggest/create activities for the class.)

Scheduled activities:
Jan. 10-11—Pre-Semester Retreat at Wessendorff Ranch
Jan. 30—Glass-bottom boat tour, Spring Lake-Meadows Center
Feb. 15—Bamberger Ranch field trip, 9 a.m.-12:30 p.m. (There will be a charge of $15.)
March 1—San Marcos River Cleanup
March 17—Presentation by David Bamberger, 6:30 p.m., Meadows Center (We will be sitting in on Andy Sansom’s Environmental Leadership class.)
March 29—Bobcat Build (Prospect Park)
April 4-6—Camping Trip, Colorado Bend State Park
April 11-12—Texas Wild Rice Festival/showing of Yakona on 4/12
TBA—Possible Class Visit to Campus Planetarium

Activities you can do on your own:
• Congress Avenue Bat Emergence, Austin
• Find a bat emergence site in San Marcos
• Organize a river or local park cleanup
• Bald eagle viewing http://www.lakesandhills.com/eagles.htm
“It allowed a conjunction of two schools of thought regarding nature. Both the physical aspect, as well as the more ungraspable idea of nature, and how to relate to it.”

“This class was amazing. Mrs. Hanson is such a wonderful teacher and allowed us to think deeply for ourselves, with guidance.”

“This course has actually taught me a lot about myself, and has shaped my views on the world a little differently. I plan on pursuing more study in the field of nature & environmentalism.”
Reflection on the Rubric

Given that my Honors course substitutes for English 1320, the second semester of freshman composition, I necessarily emphasize writing skills and require a number of assignments that reinforce those skills. That said, another of my goals is to increase my students’ engagement in the world around them. My hope is that they will move past the dualistic thinking that presupposes a “world out there”—aka the “real world”—and the world of the mind that they inhabit while in class.

To help with this process, I require my students to participate in at least seven service or enrichment activities during the semester. These are designed to accomplish several things: (1) a physical, hands-on experience of the natural world, (2) greater connection to the community outside of the university, (3) increased awareness of the complexity and richness of the ecosystem in which they live, and (4) stronger bonds between the students as a class and a community of learners.

How do these requirements meet the criteria in your rubric? While these activities do not represent a “variety of assessment strategies,” they do reflect a variety of “engagement strategies.” Moreover, the “learning objective” in each case is quite clear.

The students’ “performance” is based simply on participation, and their participation ultimately requires the use of all of their senses: being awakened by the sound of bird song on a camping trip, seeing the plants and animals that thrive in the waters of Spring Lake, feeling the smooth contours of the rocks at Wessendorff Ranch, smelling the scent of blooming mountain laurel on a walk through the woods in spring, even savoring the taste of food prepared after an arduous hike. In short, these activities collectively require the participation of the whole person. If that occurs, then I consider this element of the course to be a success.