NOTES:
1. Students interested in applying to a school of veterinary medicine may consider taking all natural sciences at Texas State University. Completing natural science courses at a community college may negatively impact your school of veterinary medicine application. See Texas A&M School of Veterinary Medicine & Biomedical Sciences website: http://vetmed.tamu.edu/dvm/future/selection-procedure
2. Italicized courses satisfy both Alamo and Texas State Core Curriculum requirements. Courses in (parentheses) indicate the course transfer equivalents at Texas State.
3. Students transferring with fewer than 16 hours after high school graduation must take US 1100. If US 1100 is not required, a one-hour elective may be required in order to meet the minimum hours required for the degree.
4. The order of courses should be chosen in consultation with an academic advisor.
5. If two years of the same foreign language were not completed in high school, students must take 6-8 hours of the same foreign language.
6. Upon completion of certain course requirements at Texas State, students may elect to send these hours back to Alamo to be applied toward an associate’s degree. This is commonly referred to as “reverse transfer.”
7. Students transferring with fewer than 16 hours after high school graduation must take US 1100. If US 1100 is not required, a one-hour elective may be required in order to meet the minimum hours required for the degree.
8. This program requires completion of a minor in Biochemistry (included in guide).
