Major International Prestigious Scholarships and Fellowships

You can find information on several prestigious fellowship programs using the list of links below. Your initial search for international fellowships should start with a general internet search for fellowship programs that are specific to your area of interest. Initially, check out at the top competitive fellowships, such as the Rhodes, Marshall, Mitchell, Gates, and Rotary; look over the application information on their websites. As you research fellowships, you can also determine institutions appropriate to specific fellowships (such as the Rhodes for Oxford University and the Gates for Cambridge University).

A well-prepared application takes considerable time and effort in research and writing. As most applications are similar, you should apply for at least two or three opportunities. A frequent combination is: Rhodes/Gates/ Marshall/Mitchell.
