SUBJECT: Death of a Student at our San Marcos Campus

It is with profound sorrow that I write to you today. I am deeply saddened by the loss of a student in our Texas State community. During these times, it is not only challenging to lose a friend but to lose a member of our Bobcat family. It is never easy to go through something like this but know that you are not alone, and we are here to support you.

Through these trying times, I find it extremely important for Texas State University to provide support for our students. Please do not hesitate to utilize the resources offered here, such as the counseling center. The counseling center has regular hours throughout the week from 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. You can reach someone via phone at 512-245-2208. You can also contact the National Suicide Prevention Hotline 24/7 at 1-800-273-8255.

During your low points, do not be afraid to seek out others for help, and do not be scared to speak out if you see someone struggling. In these times, it is essential that we lean on each other, please note that we stand with all of you, and as Bobcats, we gain strength by helping one another through difficult times. Stay strong and support one another.
