Why Study Abroad in Italy?

This program offers students the chance to fully immerse in an Italian environment as they learn about the language, culture, and volunteer within the community. Outings include visits to the museums, local markets, lectures, as well as special events such as social dinners with other international students, hikes in Tuscany and the Amalfi Coast, sports activities and walking tours covering lesser-known parts of the city, as well as other Italian destinations.

No matter what the students expectations are of Florence and Sorrento, these cities will surprise them in ways that they never anticipated. This program takes advantage of one of Italy's greatest assets: its rich history. This program aims to open the doors of new experiences and opportunities through the cultivation of language, to broaden horizons and pave the way to better cultural understanding.
