ABOUT THIS PROGRAM

March 15 - March 22, 2020

*This program requires academic engagement before and/or after travel dates.

Cuba is a beautiful island country that has adopted population health with a national health system focused on prevention, public health and community engagement. From doctors making house calls to community health workers in every neighborhood, come and see how a unique healthcare system has some of the best public health practices and serves as a healthcare model for the rest of the world. Cuba has one of the lowest infant mortality rates, has a life expectancy rate on par with the U.S and the UK and a doctor patient ratio of 1 to 150, which surpasses most developed nations. On this trip we will visit hospitals, clinics, community projects and public health campaigns that highlight how this island nation has improved the health of their population with few resources.
