DPS Driving Eligibility Website

Won't necessarily have all the info you need, but can provide some info about a person's license suspension and eligibility for an ODL

What is an ODL?

An ODL is a driver's license that may be issued to a person whose license has been suspended for a reason other than a physical or mental disability or impairment.

An ODL allows the person to drive legally while their license is suspended.

4

When May a Justice Court Issue an ODL?

- Whether or not a justice court may issue an ODL depends on the reason the license was suspended:
 - If the license was suspended automatically as a result of a conviction, then the person must apply for an ODL from the court where the conviction occurred.
 - But if the license was suspended for another reason, then they may apply for an ODL from a justice court.
