Senior Instructional Designer

Job Code 50016127

General Description
Responsible for collaborating with faculty on design and development of instructional materials and training faculty on topics related to technology integration.

Examples of Duties
Design media-rich online instructional materials.
Collaborate with faculty on content generation and coach the faculty in the design process.
Manage instructional design projects to track progress, adhere to production schedules, and keep projects within budget, resources, and time parameters.
Identify design or process issues and produce design standards, templates, and processes.
Research and appropriately integrate technology into the design of instructional materials.
Lead or participate in workshops designed to inform faculty about instructional design, online learning, technology integration, and related topics.
Perform other duties as assigned.

Knowledge, Skills, and Abilities
Knowledge of: Relevant current and emerging technology, learning and instructional theory, instructional design principles, models, and design process, interface design principles.

Skill in: Preparing clear and concise design documents, communication, and proposals, editing faculty-generated content, handling multiple projects.

Ability to: Understand, interpret, and retain a variety of text, perform intermediate mathematical operations, number systems, and logic, work as a team member, establish rapport with faculty, motivate and direct others, integrate multimedia into web-based courses, determine the effectiveness of learning materials.

Experience and Education
To qualify for this classification, an individual must possess any combination of experience and education that would likely produce the required knowledge, skills, and abilities.

Other Requirements