Welcome New Management Advisors

Arin Ely is originally from Rochester, New York, and is a new Academic Advisor for Management majors in the Advising Center.

Arin came to Texas after deciding to pursue a career as an academic advisor in a higher education setting after holding Associate and then Senior Consultant positions at Kaiser Associates in Washington D.C.

Arin graduated from the University of Miami with a BS in Communications. She enjoys her work here at Texas State and feels passionately about helping students have the best possible experience during their collegiate years. "I like to motivate students to be involved with their courses and activities outside of the classroom to make the most of their experience at Texas State," Arin said.

Arin recommends students be proactive, get involved, and value their education.

"These four years go by fast so make the most of them while you can." Welcome, Arin!

Leslie Stavrowsky is also a new Academic Advisor for Management majors here at Texas State. Originally from Oklahoma City, she graduated from the University of New Mexico with a BA in English and History. Leslie finds it important for college students to take advantage of all the great support services such as: SLAC Lab, the Writing Center, Career Services, the Mentoring Program, and the Counseling Center. In Leslie's spare time, she enjoys running her own small business and is a Pampered Chef Consultant. "I love to read cookbooks, try out new recipes and cook for people," Leslie said. Leslie is active in her church and likes to spend time outdoors with her two dogs. The daily news intrigues her, and she considers herself something of a news junkie.

"I really enjoy working with the students," Leslie said. "I feel fortunate to work in a profession where I can provide guidance, answer questions, and help advise students with their degree programs and career choices." Welcome to the McCoy Business College, Leslie!
