

Dr. Jerald Winakur

“Memory Lessons: A Geriatrician’s Tale”

Jerry Winakur has practiced internal and geriatric medicine in San Antonio for over thirty years, and is a Clinical Professor of Medicine at UTHSCSA and an Associate Faculty member at the Center for Medical Humanities and Ethics.

His lecture will focus on family caregiving for persons with dementia within the current US health care system.

With a poetry reading by Lee Robnison

After a distinguished law career, Ms. Lee Robnison began teaching with her husband, Dr. Winakur, at the Center for Medical Humanities and Ethics at UTHSCSA. An award-winning poet, Robnison’s essays, poetry, and short stories have been published widely.

Following Winakur’s lecture, Ms. Robnison will read a short selection of poetry related to “Memory Lessons.”
